SUMMARY

As an aspiring Software Engineering student, I am actively pursuing an internship opportunity to apply and refine my skills in software, web, and mobile application development. With a robust understanding of Object-Oriented Programming (OOP) principles and proficiency in languages like Java, C#, C++, and C, I have developed and deployed mobile applications using Android Studio (Java) and Flutter. My technical expertise is further supplemented by hands-on experience in scripting languages such as PHP and stylesheet languages like React and CSS. These experiences have equipped me to contribute to innovative projects while gaining invaluable industry exposure. Eager to join a dynamic team, I am enthusiastic about the prospect of learning, growing, and making meaningful contributions in the realm of software engineering.
